

The Power

Power can be handed down throughout the years,
Handled with great care and bring forth influential positivity.
But if put in the wrong hands it could be used for great evil.

Seeing it as the carrot and the stick method,
Handing over power to the right trusting people
Then the world would be a good place.

If given to manipulative people,
They will rain destruction down upon you.
Until there's nothing, left!

So,
pick,
a side.

You can't stay up on that fence, forever looking straight.
You pave the future for humanity.

