

It would be best
If you just sat and listened to what I am saying.

No predictions which
fill my mouth with lies.
Words hold power for everyone,
But mine are being taken away
by a lowlife worth nothing!

Don't belittle me because
fear rules your world.
Loss has revealed weakness
in people embodying little remorse towards others.

They never consider
strength of character anymore potent, than capabilities housed within minds or bodies.

Money can't talk.
Fame is not everlasting.
All we can rely on resides inside our psyche.

Abilities unlock
when looking at collected
fragments, like us, expanding speech.

