

This is Rhetorical

Why am I afraid to complete the process
of getting a full-time job?
What could go wrong
if I were to resign from my three part-time jobs
and I were to get one full-time job?
Would I cause my bosses distress?
Would me leaving mess up the schedules?
They would still be willing to give me letters of recommendation, right?

Obviously I would put in a two-week notice.
But when would I put it in?
When could I tell full-time jobs I could start working?
Would they understand my predicament?

I'll just wait.

